The Prez's Coffee Break

Richard R. (Rick) Lippincott

THINGS YOU WOULDN'T KNOW IF YOU DIDN'T GO ON SURVEYS: There are a few good rock alignments in Boulder County! Two surveys in the past two weeks revealed three such structures.

Two were found southwest of Lyons, and the third located a couple of miles north of Boulder on Open Space land.

On March 16, Laura Viola, Sue and I made a preliminary investigation of a rock alignment near Lyons. This structure, about one meter high and approximately 400 meters long, is located on private property. During the investigation, Laura and Sue also discovered a second alignment approximately two kilometers from the first. (They were checking out the area while I was searching for any evidence of a meat processing area.) They also discovered a rock shelter, but did not have time to investigate it.

The third alignment was located on March 23 during a survey led by Dock Teegarden on Open Space land north of Boulder. This structure has a total estimated length of nearly a kilometer. The basal portion of a side-notched projectile point was found by Steve Montgomery in association with the upper portion of the structure. An IF will be submitted to Kevin Black.

PRAISE DEPARTMENT: Let such kind words flow to Ann Hayes for her leadership in hosting (or is it hostessing) the CCPA party at the CU museum. Ann did her usual skillful job of organizing the eats and drinks in cooperation with the Denver Chapter. Thanks to Ann, Edna Devai, Anita McHugh, Laura Viola, and Sue Lippincott. We made some friends in the professional community with that shindig.

We are looking forward now to the April 3 Chapter meeting at the museum with Dr. McKim Malville and his presentation on archaeoastronomy. There will be a cookies and punch reception in connection with this meeting in cooperation with the museum. The meeting will be held in the Dinosaur Room beginning at 7:30 p.m. The April meeting will be back at the Nature Center.

"Seems like Gramp's been there forever—fossilized right there on his favorite rock.

CURRENT EVENTS - ANN HAYES*High Altitude Archaeology Exhibit at Boulder Public Library

Don't miss the remarkable High Altitude Archaeology Exhibit created by eight members of the Indian Peaks Chapter in conjunction with ARCHAEOLOGY PRESERVATION WEEK. The 16 foot display occupies two cases in the Bridge Gallery of the Boulder Public Library. It will be on continuous display during the month of April.

The display contains a photographic exhibit and text describing the work of a renowned archaeologist, James Benedict, who for the past twenty years has studied prehistoric occupations of the Colorado front range. His work reveals the lifestyle of Native Americans, (going back 10,000 years), along the continental divide in what is now the Indian Peaks Wilderness and Rocky Mountain National Park.

The exhibit was a highly successful cooperative project. A new member of our Executive Board, Steve Montgomery of Montgomery Partnership Architecture, developed the concept for the exhibit, solicited the funds for production, and provided the leadership to see it through. Jean Kindig's text is based on Benedict's 1991 paper "People of the Shining Mountains - High Altitude Cultural Ecology on the Colorado Front Range". Bill Maxson contributed an explanation of CAS and its purposes. Anita McHugh typeset the text. Janet Lever's art work added warmth and grace. Brent Wheeler, Jeannie Hamilton and Ann Hayes also made important contributions to the project. James Benedict was most generous by being available for consultation and in providing unpublished photos that suited the theme of the exhibit.

Besides encouraging archaeological awareness and preservation in our own backyard, the finely crafted exhibit is a real work of art. Go on up to the Bridge Gallery and have a look.

COLORADO ARCHAEOLOGY PRESERVATION WEEK POSTERS

We've heard a lot about it, but what exactly is Archaeology Preservation Week? We suggest you read the article by State Archaeologist, Susan Collins, in the summer 1990 issue of Southwestern Lore. All CAS chapters were urged to develop special projects to promote archaeological awareness and preservation during the second week in April. This year's poster depicts the slogan "SAVE OUR PAST FOR THE FUTURE". It uses block letters as windows on to the past and future. We have a stack of these beautiful posters and need helpers to distribute them. If you would like one just for you, the cost is $3. Call Ann Hayes, 494-3773.

APRIL MEETING - INDIAN PEAKS CHAPTER

EVENT: Colorado Archaeological Society
Indian Peaks Chapter
Monthly Meeting

Slide presentation:
"Rock Graphics of the Four Corners Area
in their Scenic Environment"

Speaker: Robert L Powell, Ph.D.
Outdoor Photographer

DATE: Wednesday, April 24, 1991

TIME: 7:30 pm

LOCATION: Foothills Nature Center
4201 N. Broadway, Boulder

CONTACT: Ann Hayes, CAS, 494-3773
Steve Montgomery, CAS, 443-4414

N.B. Robert Powell offers intimate view of southeast Utah rock graphics in the magnificence of their natural setting. He documents "Procession Panel", a recently discovered petroglyph mural of epic proportions, representing the convergence of three columns of miniature figures. Sites photographed in Grand Gulch include Perfect Kiva, Green Mask, Big Man and Quail Panel. Those in Canyon del Meurto include Blue Bull, Many Cherries, Antelope House and Tse-ta-a. Powell's prints, made from large slides taken with a medium format camera, are presently on display at the Anasazi Heritage Center in Dolores, Colorado. Several will also be exhibited at this event.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a change of subject as well as a change in speaker than what was shown in the March Calumet.

"THE MOVING FINGER WRITES AND HAVING WRIT, MOVES ON" O.K.

Bon voyage, Ann and Bob!

Ann Pipkins and bob McMillan have some exciting plans. They have decided to tour Europe on bicycles! Beginning at the Isle of Man, where they expect to remain for about a month, they will visit England, then move on to Italy and Greece. Where else? They aren't sure. This is an "open ended" trip that could lead anywhere.

Ann, who has worked as a professional archaeologist, has made real contributions to the field, and especially to our chapter. For the past two years, she served as Project Information Officer for IP/CAS, which required that she interface with Boulder City and County Open Space, professional archaeologists, and the Office of the State Archaeologist. From 1987 to 1990, she served as PAAC Coordinator for our chapter, during which time she worked closely with the Assistant to the State Archaeologist, setting up a schedule of classes for our locale.

Ann has a BA in Anthropology from CU and has completed all the PAAC courses. She is a certified field director through PAAC. Ann gives the program high marks, and says "the courses were good, useful, current, and of the here and now - not like some university courses". She's proud of the independent study project she undertook for PAAC certification at the CU Museum. Under the direction of Curator Diana Leonard, she selected ceramic pieces that had not been cataloged. Ann did the ethnographic work, described, and recorded ten whole vessels from Yellow Jacket for the museum. Her work was accepted by the PAAC board as meeting the Lab requirement for certification.

Ann participated in two articles printed in Southwestern Lore. The December, 1989 issue contains "A Partial Re-inventory of Boulder County Sites" which she co-authored with Sharon Pay, Pat Hatfield and Louise Derr. The summer, 1990 issue contains her article "A Survey of Computer Applications in Archaeology".

We are proud of you Ann and all of us wish you and Bob happy times and travels wherever you may roam. Don't forget to write.

Ann Hayes

For Your Information

It is with sincere regret that the Chapter accepts the resignation of Ann Pipkins as Field Coordinator and Field Director. Ann is planning a journey to Europe for an extended period of time.

I, for one, will miss Ann's leadership and skills as a field director, and her interest and support for Chapter programs. She has been one of the major guiding lights of this Chapter, and we are the poorer for her leaving.

We wish you well, Ann, and success in whatever you seek to accomplish. Just remember, there will always be a place for you in the Chapter. Kindest regards, Rick Lippincott & Indian Peaks Chapter, CAS
