

GOOGLE+ FOR BEGINNERS

An Introduction to One of Today's Newest Online Communities

www.queenslibrary.org

Introduction to Google+

One of the newest social networks, Google+ is Google's latest attempt at social networking. If you use other Google products, such as Gmail, you've probably been prompted to join. According to Google CEO Larry Page, the site has 100 million active users. In comparison, Facebook, the most popular social network in the world, claims to have 845 million active users.

Google+ offers a unique way of connecting with your various contacts, allowing you to send group messages to particular social circles you designate, such as "family," "coworkers," and "friends." Google+ gets that you act and communicate differently depending on the setting and that when it comes to social networking Facebook's "one-size-fits-all" approach might not be best for everyone!

Google+ Features

Unlike signing up for accounts on other social networks, you do NOT have—or use—an existing email address to sign up for a Google+ account.

When you create a Google+ account, you will be creating a Google account, which you can use to access other Google products, including Google’s email service, Gmail. If you already have Gmail, you can create a Google+ account through Gmail.

Google+ users can:

- Find and add friends and find and follow companies, entertainers, politicians, and more.
- Create profiles with information about personal interests, job history, education, and location.
- Create and share photo albums, status updates, and events.
- Share videos, links to online articles, and more.
- Send instant messages and private messages and post public messages or messages to friends.
- Play online games.
- Video chat and video conference for free.
- Use privacy settings to control what information is shared with whom.
- “Check in” to physical places online.
- Create free pages for their business.
- Search Google+’s public posts to see what other users are saying and sharing about any given topic.

Must-Know Google+ Vocabulary

+1: A way of showing your support for a friend's status update, or a way of following a company's Google+ page. This is the equivalent to Facebook's "like."

Hangout: A Google+ video chat or conference.

Hashtags (#s): Denoted by a # in front of a word, hashtags are a way to link your update to an index of updates on related topics. Ex: #NYC, #reading, #worldcup, #GOP, and so forth.

Circles: A way of organizing your contacts into groups, such as "friends," "neighbors," "college friends," etc. Following is not mutual. You may add someone to a circle, but they may not add you.

Stream: An activity feed of all of the latest information and updates from the people and companies you're following.

Trends: This is a list of the top phrases being used on Google+ at any given moment.

Google+ Homepage

The screenshot shows the Google+ homepage layout. At the top is the Google+ logo and a search bar. On the left is a sidebar with navigation icons: Home, Profile, Pages, Explore, Photos, and Circles. The main content area displays a feed of posts. The first post is from the Cambridge University Press Library Marketing Group, featuring a quote by Bob Kaufman and a link to Cambridge Histories Online. The second post is from Naperville Public Library, announcing a 4-day Adult Computer Camp. Below these is a 'HOT ON GOOGLE+' section featuring a post by Alex Koloskov about HDR photography. On the right side of the page, there is a 'TRENDING ON GOOGLE+' section listing popular topics like Dick Clark, #WhateverWednesday, Google, eBay, and #WeLoveMusicWednesday.

Google+

Home

Profile

Pages

Explore

Photos

Circles

Cambridge University Press Library Marketing Group 3:58 PM - Public

"Streets paved with opal sadness, Lead me counterclockwise, to pockets of joy, And jazz." Happy birthday, Bob Kaufman! <http://bit.ly/JdQ5f5>

Cambridge Histories Online : New frontiers, cross-currents and convergences: emerging cultural paradigms »

Home » Browse » The Cambridge History of African American Literature: The Cambridge History of African American Literature » AFRICAN AMERICAN LITERATURE IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY » New frontiers, cross...

+1

Add a comment...

Naperville Public Library 3:52 PM - Public

Know anyone who wants a boot camp to learn how to use computers? Well we're offering one this summer! Check out our 4 day Adult Computer Camp from June 4-7. Registration must be done in person at any of our Computer Labs.

Alex Koloskov 4:19 PM - Public

The right way to do an HDR: Sequoias

Ok, this is what +Genia Larionova did to those 3 bracketed shots (2Ev step) I've got at Yosemite. I have posted my own version of HDR earlier (see it here:

TRENDING ON GOOGLE+

- Dick Clark
- #WhateverWednesday
- Google
- eBay
- #WeLoveMusicWednesday

Queens Library
Enrich your life®
www.queenslibrary.org

This is a feed of all the recent activity from the accounts you follow on Google+. It is unique to your preferences.

Google+ will also show popular posts and topics from accounts you are not following—ones that are “trending,” or “viral,” on Google+. See below.

Google+ Profile

The screenshot shows a Google+ profile for Queens Library. At the top, the Google+ logo is on the left, a search bar in the center, and a red notification badge with the number 34 on the right. The left sidebar contains navigation icons for Home, Profile, Pages, Explore, Photos, and Circles. The main content area features the profile name 'Queens Library' with a 'View as...' dropdown and an 'Edit profile' button. Below this is a row of five photos showing different views of library buildings. To the right is a large profile picture of the Queens Library logo, which is a stylized orange and yellow 'Q' with a flame-like shape. Below the profile picture is the website URL 'http://queenslibrary.org/' and a row of interaction buttons: '+1', a share icon, and a count of '+399'. Below these are tabs for 'Posts', 'About', 'Photos', and 'Videos'. The 'Posts' tab is selected, showing a post from April 16, 2012, about the popularity of 'Fonzie' and library cards. The post includes a quote from Susannah Cahalan's review of 'My Happy Days in Hollywood: A Memoir' by Garry Marshall and a link to the review. At the bottom of the post is a small video thumbnail and a link to 'Happy days are here again (and always)'. On the right side, below the interaction buttons, it says '227 IN YOUR CIRCLES' followed by a row of five small profile pictures of users.

Google+ 34

Queens Library View as... Edit profile

Home Profile Pages Explore Photos Circles

Posts About Photos Videos

Queens Library Apr 16, 2012 - Public

"Fonzie became so wildly popular that when an episode aired that featured him signing up for a library card, requests for library cards across the country rose 500% in one month." — Susannah Cahalan's review of "My Happy Days in Hollywood: A Memoir" by Garry Marshall

http://www.nypost.com/p/news/opinion/books/happy_days_are_here_again_and_always_SxWMCpNHRr8VrBP4ttEvlJ#ixzz1sDV3t59C

+1 Share +399

227 IN YOUR CIRCLES

The profile page shows a stream of your personal updates. You can click "About," to see your profile information; "Photos," to see photos you've uploaded and been tagged in; and "Videos," to see videos you've uploaded and been tagged in. You can click "View as..." to see what your profile looks like to your different contacts. You can click "Edit Profile," to change your basic biographical information.

Important Google+ Buttons and Functions

or

Click on the home icon or the “Google+” icon at any time to get to your personalized Google+ homepage.

or

Click on the profile icon or your profile picture and username (and click “View profile”) to visit your profile.

“Explore” will take you to up-to-the-moment popular stories, accounts, posts, and trending topics on Google+.

Clicking on “Hangouts,” will take you to where you can set up a free video chat with up to nine of your Google+ contacts. All participants must have webcams on the devices they are using. You can also search for existing “Hangouts” by topic of interest.

“Photos” will take you to an index of all the photos you’ve uploaded and been tagged in.

Clicking on “Circles” will take you to an index page of all the groups of followers you have created, and all of the individuals who are following you. Remember, following, or adding to “circles,” is not a mutual relationship.

You can choose which other functions appear here in this “More” shortcut, including pages—if you create a page for your business and link it to your personal account, you can switch to that account here by selecting “Pages”; selecting “Games” will take you to a list of game apps you’ve added.

More Important Google+ Buttons and Functions

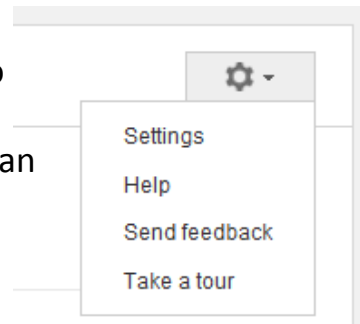

The default of your homepage feed will be “All,” or all activity. The next choices will correspond to names of your circles. “More” will take you to a menu of your other lists. The benefit of this, is you can see all of the updates from your friends in one place, sites you like in one place, and so forth.

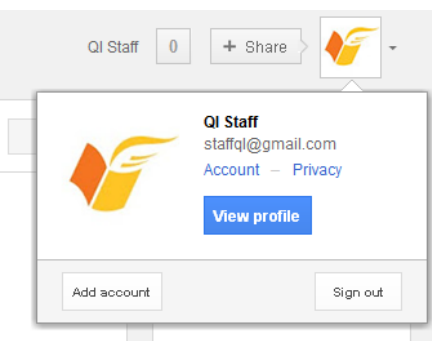

This search bar is at the top of every Google+ page. It will show you relevant results related to people, posts from your contacts, popular posts from people you don’t necessarily follow, and typical Google search engine results.

This spinning wheel is a shortcut to several Google+ tools, most importantly, the place where you can change your profile settings—including your password, name, default language, and more.

This is another place to start or join a hangout, or video chat.

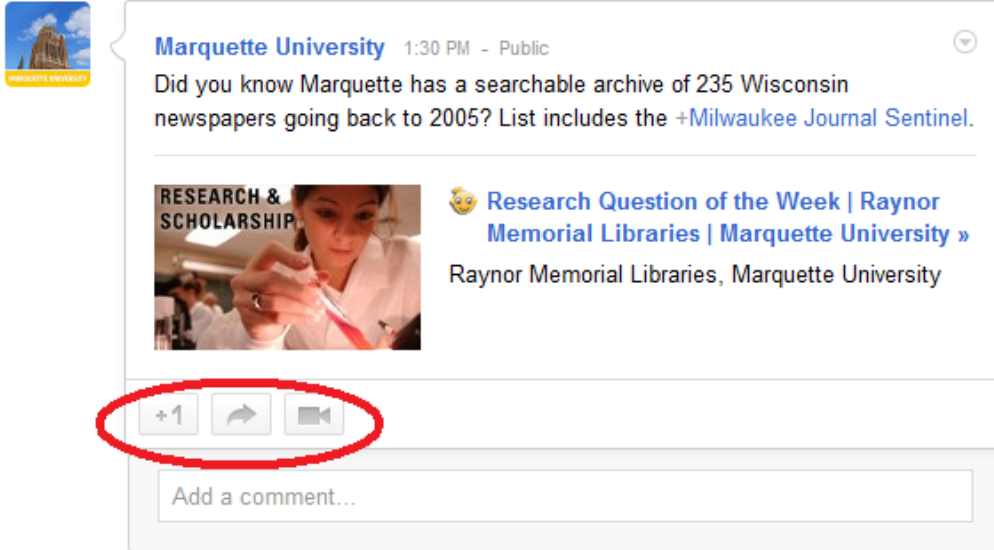

The square next to your name is the notifications box. It indicates the number of updates waiting for you about things like friend requests, photos tagged of you, and so forth. If you click on it, it will take you to a list of recent notifications. This is important if you do not want email notifications. You can then be notified of all new activity here.

If you click on “+ Share,” you will find a shortcut for writing a status update or sharing a message with one of your contacts or circles.

If you click on your profile picture, you will find another place to access your profile settings. Additionally, you will be able to view your profile, add an account, and sign out.

More Important Google+ Buttons and Functions

- +1 - A way of showing your support for an individual's status update.
- → - A way of sharing an individual's status update with your own contacts.
- The video camera icon is a way of creating a video chat around a given status update.

You will see these symbols when you are writing an update or taking actions on Google+. If you select "your circles," only people you are following (not people who are only following you) will be able to see the update. Extended circles, allows your contacts and their contacts to see your update. "Public" means anyone who accesses Google+ and products that use Google+ data may see your activity.

 Your circles

 Public

 Extended circles

Visit <http://plus.google.com>

Click on “Create an account,” to set up your Google+ profile.

Create a Google Account

Create a new Google Account

1

Your Google Account is more than just Google+.

Talk, chat, share, schedule, store, organize, collaborate, discover and create. Use Google products from Gmail to Google+ to YouTube, view your search history, all with one username and password, all backed up all the time and easy to find at (you guessed it) Google.com.

Take it all with you.

A Google Account lets you access all your stuff — Gmail, photos and more — from any device. Search by taking pictures, or by voice. Get free turn-by-turn navigation, upload your pictures automatically, and soon even buy things with your phone using Google Wallet.

Share a little. Or share a lot.

Share selectively with friends, family (maybe even your boss) on Google+. Start a video Hangout with friends, text a group all at once, or just follow posts from people who fascinate you. Your call.

Work in the future.

2

Name

First

Last

Choose your username

@gmail.com

Create a password

Confirm your password

Birthday

Month

Day

Year

Gender

I am...

Mobile phone

Country

Other email address

Default homepage

☒ Set Google as my default homepage.

Your default homepage in your browser is the first

Note: You do not have to share your real name, gender, birthday, phone number, country, or email address.

Your name and username do not have to be the same. Your Google+ username will also serve as a Google account and Gmail account. Your username and password do not have to be the same as another email address you may have. Your password must be at least eight characters in length.

The Fine Print

Default homepage

☒ Set Google as my default homepage.

Your default homepage in your browser is the first page that appears when you open your browser.

You do not have to check this box. If you leave this box checked on your personal computer, every time you log in, it will set this website as the default page that loads when you open the Internet.

- ☐ I agree to the Google Terms of Service and Privacy Policy
- ☐ Google may use my account information to personalize +1's on content and ads on non-Google websites. About personalization.

You must agree to Google's "Terms of Service," and "Privacy Policy," to create an account by checking the first box. Learn more about Google's Terms of Service: <http://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/terms/> and Privacy Policy: <http://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy/>.

You do not have to check the second box. If you do, you will see custom results in Google search results, catered to your Google+ interests and social circles' interests, and you will see information about your Google+ contacts when you visit other websites and your Google+ contacts may see information about you on other websites. The kind of information they will see includes things like if you've shared the article on Google+ or followed the company on Google+. Learn more: <https://support.google.com/plus/bin/answer.py?hl=en&answer=1152622>.

Confirm Your Account

Prove you're not a robot

Type the two pieces of text:

⌂ 🔊 ?

1

2

Welcome staff!

Now you're ready to search, create, and collaborate across lots of Google products.

Your new email address is qlstaffdemonstration@gmail.com.

Thanks for creating an account. Have fun!

Continue to Google+

Google+

qlstaffdemonstration@gmail.com About Google+

1 Upgrade

2 Add people

3 Be awesome

Join Google+ by creating your public profile

 Add your photo
Help your friends recognize you.

Name (f)

Gender

☒ Google may use my information to personalize content and ads on non-Google web sites. Learn More

Mobile
Hangouts, photos, and quick access to everyone in your circles

©2012 Google Privacy & Terms English (United States)

Upgrade >

Confirm your name and gender for your “public profile,” necessary for creating your Google+ account. Once again, decide whether you want what you share on Google+ available on other Google and non-Google websites.

Your new Gmail address is confirmed. Now continue with creating your Google+ account.

Find People to Follow on Google+

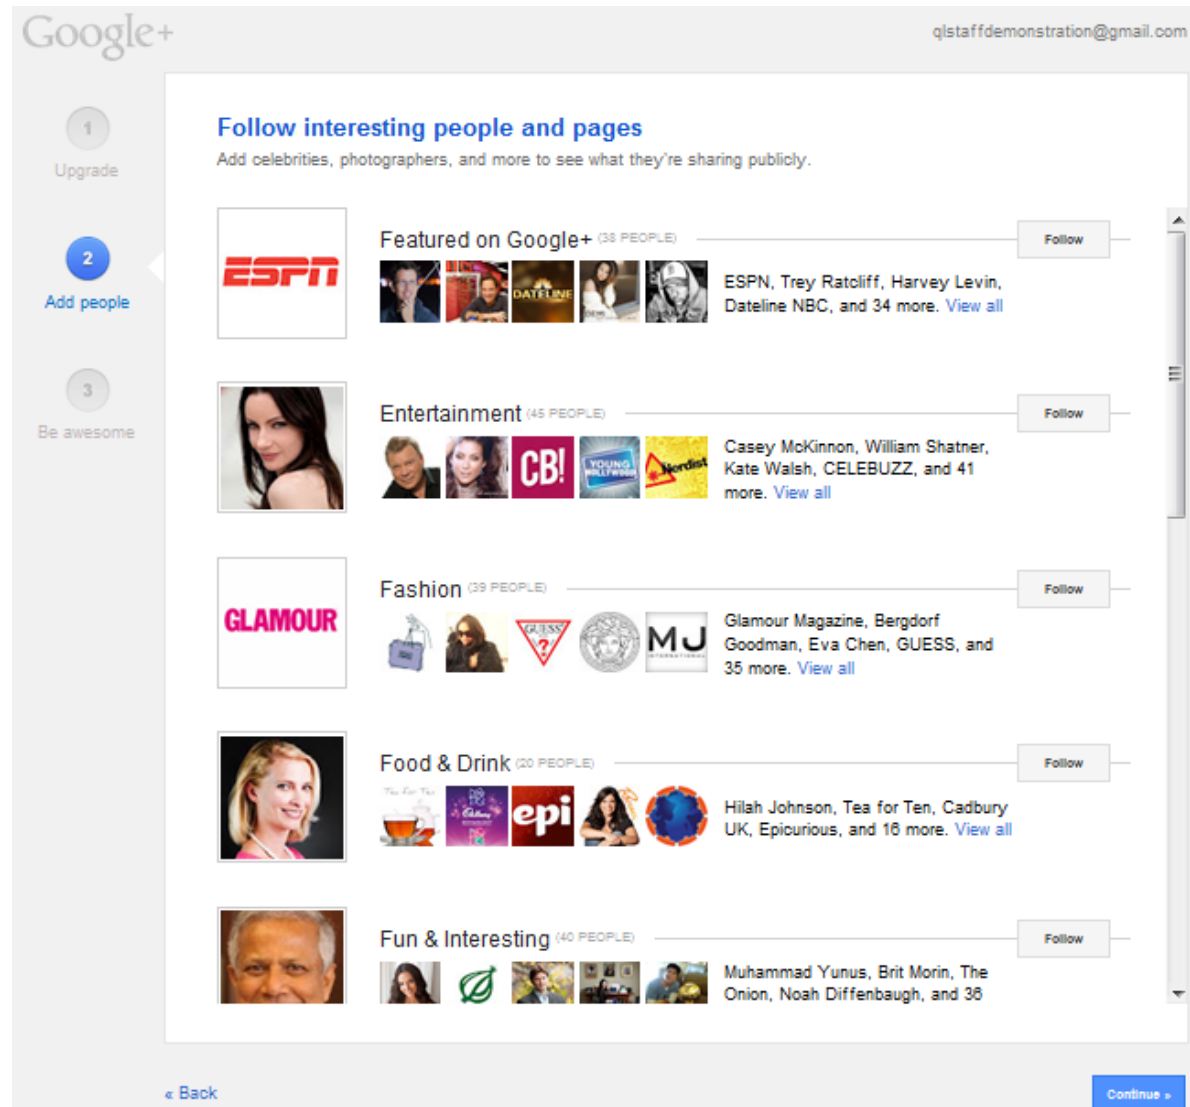

The screenshot shows the Google+ 'Add people you know' interface. On the left sidebar, there are three numbered steps: 1. Upgrade, 2. Add people (highlighted with a blue circle), and 3. Be awesome. The main content area is titled 'Add people you know' and includes a subtext: 'You'll see what your friends & family are sharing when you add them. Learn more'. Below this, there is a search bar with the placeholder text 'Search for people on Google+' and a blue search button with a magnifying glass icon. Underneath the search bar, there is a section titled 'Find friends from another account' with two buttons: 'Yahoo!' (with the Yahoo! logo) and 'Hotmail' (with the Hotmail logo). At the bottom right of the main content area, there is a blue button labeled 'Continue »'.

Use the search box to browse for friends, companies, and more via Google+. You will only be able to find their profiles if they allow their profile to be shown in these results, and only if they're using their real names.

You can also search your email contacts, to see if any have joined Google+.

You can skip this step by clicking "Continue."

Google+ Will Suggest Featured Users by Category

Note: If you click “Follow,” you will follow all of the profiles in that featured group.

If you want to follow only one of the accounts, click on the profile picture for that account.

You can skip this step by clicking “Continue.”

Fill Out Basic Profile Information

Google+ qlstaffdemonstration@gmail.com

1 Upgrade

2 Add people

3 Be awesome

Put a face to your name

Update your public profile and photo!

barbara smith
Upload an image

This is how you'll appear to others:

- I work at...
- I went to school at...
- I live in...

Where do you work?

Employer Job title

Where have you gone to school?

School name Year

Where do you live?

Enter a city or a country

« Back Finish

You do not have to fill out any of this information or use a profile picture. You can skip this step by clicking “finish.” You will have the option to edit, change, or add this information—and tweak what information is public and what is not—whenever you like.

When You Follow an Account on Google+, It Will Be Added to a “Circle”

What happens when you add someone to a circle?

- You can share with them and see what they're sharing with you.
- You can chat with anyone in your circles who also has you in their circles.
- They'll be notified and can add you to their own circles, but they'll never see the names of the circles you've added them to.
- They'll appear on your public profile. Change

Okay, got it

You might be lonely...

You haven't added many people to your circles, so you might not see a lot of updates in Google+. Want to go back and add a few more?

Continue anyway

Add more people

You might see this message if you do not follow any accounts.

Your circles (0)

Have you in circles (0)

Find people

Relevance ▼

Type a name

Actions ▼

Add a new person

You don't have anyone in your circles ... yet!

Find people you may know or see who's already added you.

Drag people to your circles to follow and share

This is an index page of all the groups of followers you have created, and all of the individuals who are following you. Remember, following, or adding to “circles,” is not a mutual relationship. Google+ has default “circles,” but you don’t have to use these—you can add, rename, and delete circles at any time.

You can find contacts here by typing their name in the “Add a new person” field or the “Type a name field.”

Adding a Follower to a “Circle”

Interface for adding followers to a Google+ circle:

Top navigation: Your circles (227) | Have you in circles (385) | Relevance ▾ | Type a name | Actions ▾ | Settings ▾

Grid of profiles and organizations to be added:

- Donna Schumann
- Hennepin County Library
- Libraries on Google+
- John Pappas
- John LeMasney
- Leslie Chen
- Reed Stockman
- ESL-Library.com
- The Public Library of Brookline
- Stillwater Public Library
- Ingrid Strauch
- Lorri Mon
- PasteSoft
- Rossana I Barrios
- Scott Peterson

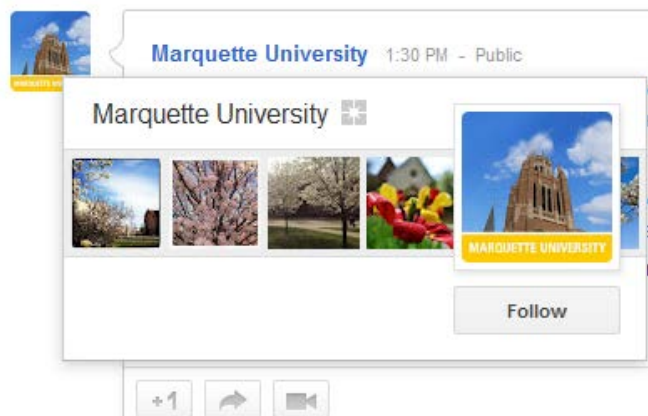

Drag people to your circles to follow and share

Available circles for adding followers:

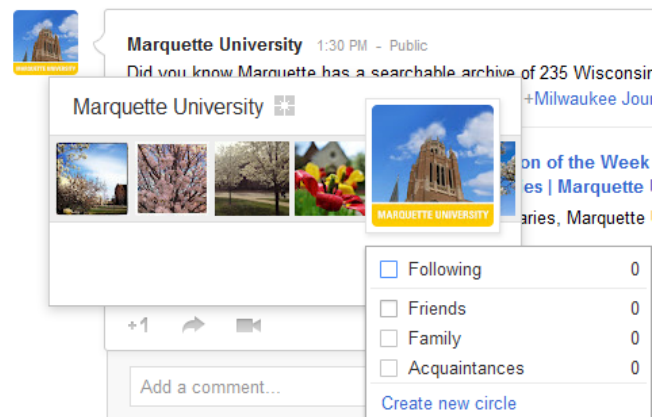

- Drop here to create a circle
- Individual 69
- Hennepin County Libraries
- Organizations 18
- Library Folks 56

Select a profile, then drag the item by moving your cursor to either an existing circle of your choosing or an empty circle. If you add it to an empty circle, Google+ will prompt you to give the circle a name.

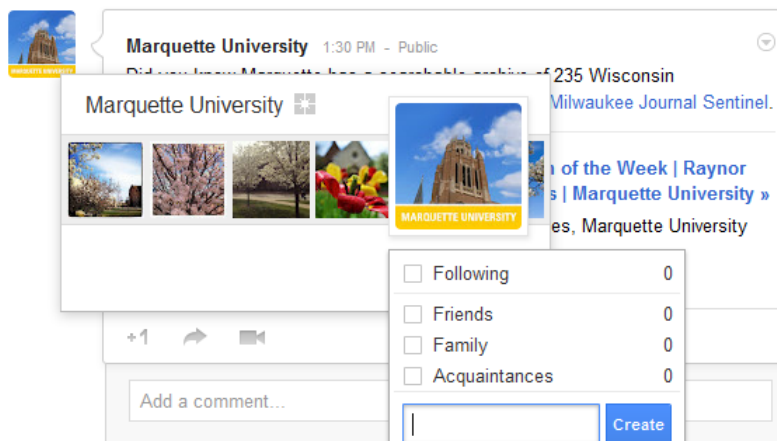

Following and Adding Someone to a Circle

Hover over the account's profile picture and select "Follow."

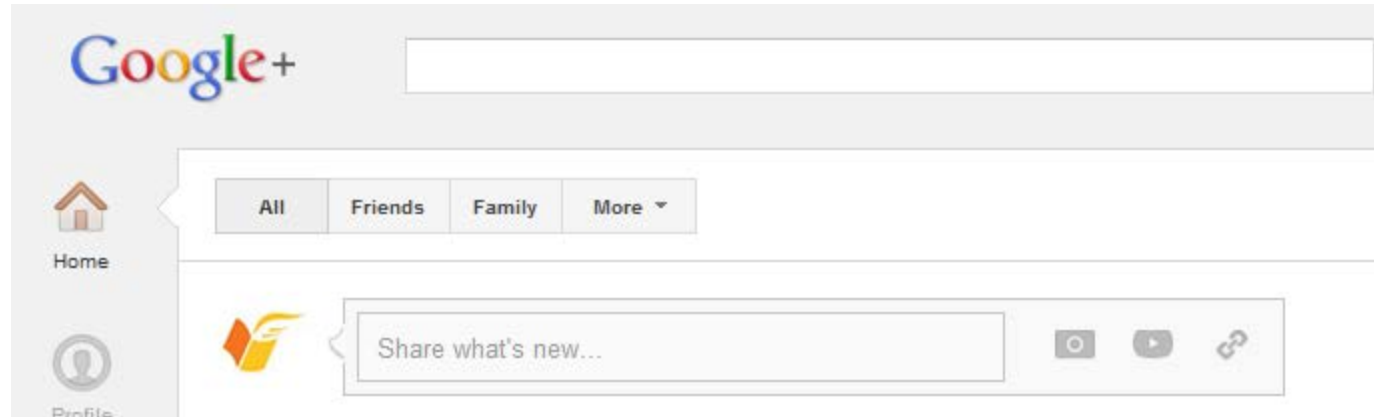

Check the box next to an existing circle and the new contact will be added or click "Create a new circle."

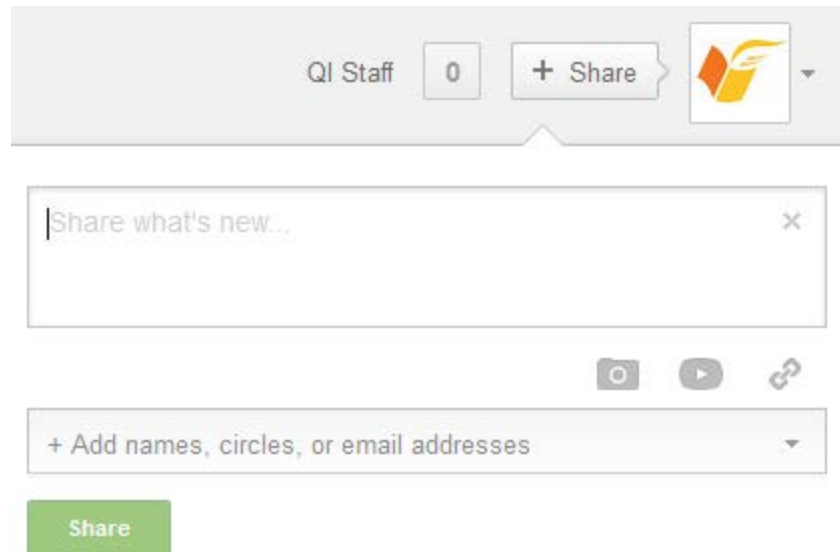

To create a new circle, type the desired name and click "create."
The new contact will be added.

Writing a Status Update or Message

You can write messages to just yourself, one individual, one group, many individuals, many groups, or to be visible to the public. Each time you write a message, you can customize the audience. A message can consist of text, a link, photo(s), and/or video(s).

You can write an update at any time, by visiting the homepage, and typing a message in the box that says "Share what's new..."

Additionally, you'll find a shortcut to post a message by clicking "+ Share."

Edit Your Account Settings

The screenshot shows the Google+ Account Settings page for a user named 'QI Staff'. The page is divided into several sections: Account overview, Profile and privacy, Google+, Products, Language, and Data liberation. The 'Security' section includes options for Password, Authorizing applications & sites, and 2-step verification. The 'Email addresses and usernames' section shows the primary email address 'staffqi@gmail.com' and a secondary address 'socialmedia@queenslibrary.org'. The 'Google +1' section shows the '+1 on non-Google sites' setting. The 'Connected accounts' section shows a message about improving the Google experience by connecting accounts. The 'Services' section includes options to delete the profile and Google+ features, delete the entire Google account, and view, enable, or disable web history. At the bottom, there is a link to visit the previous version of the Account settings screen.

QI Staff
Edit profile

Security

Password Change password Change recovery options

Authorizing applications & sites Edit ?

2-step verification Off Edit ?

Email addresses and usernames

Email addresses staffqi@gmail.com (Primary email)
socialmedia@queenslibrary.org
Edit

Google +1

+1 on non-Google sites Off Edit

Connected accounts

Connected accounts You can improve your Google experience by connecting your accounts from other services.

Services

Delete profile and Google+ features Delete profile and remove associated Google+ features

Delete entire Google account Close entire account and delete all services and info associated with it

View, enable, or disable web history Go to web history

Looking for older account options and your Google Products?
Visit the previous version of the Account settings screen.

Click on your profile button at the top of any Google+ page and click on “Account” or click on the spinning wheel icon on the homepage and click on “Settings” (shown above) to get to this page.

Here you can change your password, email address(es) associated with the account, linked accounts, language, privacy, sharing settings, and more.

Edit Your Privacy Settings

Take some time reading through each of the different sections. You can have very customized privacy settings, so explore your options and see what is a best fit for you.

Accounts

Account overview

Profile and privacy

Google+

Products

Language

Data liberation

Google+ builds privacy settings in context where you share or edit information.

Google Profiles

Search results

Your name and any other fields you make public in your profile are searchable on the web and may appear in Google Search results.

QI Staff - Google Profile

<https://plus.google.com/111616164606436278740>

Public profile information

You choose what information in your profile you want to make visible to specific individuals, to circles, or to everyone.

Edit visibility on profile

Sharing

Circles

Circles are groups of people you share content with. The names of your circles and who you add to them are visible only to you, though you can set whether the list of people in all of your circles is visible in your public profile.

Manage circles

Network Visibility

You can control which people appear on your profile. Note that circle names are never revealed.

Edit network visibility

Who posts are shared with

Each post has an indicator that summarizes who the post is shared with (Public, Limited, and so on). Click the indicator for details about who the post is shared with. Remember that anyone a post is shared with can see all comments to that post, who else it's shared with, and share the post with others.

Sharing defaults

Each time you post content, you specify the circles and individuals you want to share it with. For convenience, new posts default to the last set of people you shared a post with, but you can change that before you post.

Google+

Photos

You can specify who can automatically tag you with a tag linked to your Google Profile, whether to attach the location where you took photos when you upload them, and whether to include a Photos tab in your public profile.

Edit photos settings

Hangouts

Each time you start or join a hangout, you check your appearance on screen and adjust your microphone and speaker volume, before you're visible to others.

Google privacy

Dashboard

Use Dashboard to view and manage the information stored in your Google Account.

Sign in to Dashboard

Privacy Center

Visit the Privacy Center for details about Google products and privacy policies.

Go to Privacy Center

Using the Hashtag

To use a hashtag, type the pound sign (#) immediately followed by a word or phrase, with no spaces.

Clicking on a hashtag will take you to an index page of all the updates that have used that hashtag recently. This is a great way to track topics of interest. Using hashtags is a way to have your updates discovered.

More Important Information About Google+

<https://www.google.com/intl/en-US/+/learnmore/index.html>

<http://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/terms/>

<http://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy/>

<https://support.google.com/plus/bin/answer.py?hl=en&answer=1152622>

Connect with Queens Library on...

Facebook.com/queenslibrarynyc

Twitter.com/queenslibrary

Youtube.com/queenslibrary

LinkedIn.com/company/queens-library

Foursquare.com/queenslibrary

Queenslibrary.tumblr.com

Goodreads.com/group/show/58240.Queens

Flickr.com/photos/qbpllid

Gplus.to/queenslibrary

Web.stagram.com/n/queenslibrary

Pinterest.com/queenslibrary

